The Chart above lists "double-double" calendar dates using their numerical values (i.e. January 1st is written out as 0101, February 2nd as 0202, etc.). The Chart does not tell you what to play during a "double double" date on the calendar. It only gives you a heads up that these are the dates throughout any year that have a high probably of a "double double" combination showing in the Pick 4 games.

**The suggested additional days to play are based on our eight combinations that you get when you order our 2013 collection. It is noted that no backtesting has been done on any other double-double combinations that may fall during our "five day window of opportunity" dates noted above.

If you want to know what to play, we will give you 8 hot double doubles to play in your online "all-state" games. These will be most productive during the "five day" window of opportunity as shown in the Chart above. Grab your copy here: 999 "Double Doubles" 2013 collection.
